CMAS	Social Studies: 4 th and 7 th grade administered on a 3 year rotation. CDE determines which school tests each year. Science: 5 th and 8 th	-Social Studies: 4.0 Hours -Science: 4.0 Hours	April 10-28, 2017	State	CMAS is Colorado's standards-based assessment designed to measure the Colorado Academic Standards (CAS) in the content areas of science and social studies. The purpose of the CMAS assessments is to provide one measure of the degree to which students have mastered the CAS in science and social studies at the end of the tested grade level. In addition to the student level information provided, schools may use the data across their schools to make adjustments to instructional programming for the following year.	This is one measure as part of a balanced assessment system and can be used as a benchmark for students in relation to District and State score reports. This assessment also meets the requirement for state accountability.	https://www.cde.state.co.us/assessment/newasses-sum ; http://www.cde.state.co.us/communications/cmafactsheet
CogAT	2 nd and referrals	90 minutes	Screener in February	Federal	The Cognitive Abilities Test (CogAT) measures students' learned reasoning abilities in the three areas most linked to academic success in school: Verbal, Quantitative and Nonverbal. Although its primary goal is to assess students' reasoning abilities, CogAT can also provide predicted achievement scores when administered with The Iowa Tests.	While CogAT is well-suited to help educators make important student placement decisions, such as selecting students for Gifted and Talented programs, exclusive features such as the Ability Profile Score can be used to expand the educational opportunities of all students.	http://www.riverpub.com/product/cogAt/
NWEA MAP	2 nd -12 th	120 minutes average for each test in mathematics (grades 2-12), reading (grades 2-9) and science (grades 5 & 8).	3 x's / year September 12 -30, 2016 December 5 - December 21, 2016 May 1 - 19, 2017	School	MAP is a set of adaptive interim benchmark assessments that measure whether students are on track in their learning for their grade level based on national normative data in mathematics, reading and language usage during three checkpoints throughout the year (beginning of year, mid-year and end of year). These high quality, computer-based assessments give teachers, schools, students and parents better information about whether students are on track in their learning, and tools to help teachers customize teaching and learning to meet student needs.	The test scores will be used to drive instructional practices in the classroom. The scores will guide efforts to adapt teaching methods to the needs and abilities of the students. The scores are also used as one component of the body of evidence to determine areas of strengths and weaknesses for recommendations into other school programs, such as gifted and special education.	http://www.nwea.org

STAR Early Literacy assesses these eight key domains of early literacy and numeracy. 145 skills are grouped into 32 closely-related skill areas. The domains and skills below are grouped into three major areas that relate to state standards. Diagnostic assessments are required only for students identified with a significant reading deficiency for the purpose of identifying the child's specific reading deficits(s).	Teachers must measure each K- 3 student's reading competency using state board approved interim reading assessments. If the student is determined to have a significant reading deficiency, teachers must administer one or more of the state board approved diagnostic assessments to determine the student's specific reading skill deficiencies. The READ Act requires the creation and implementation of an individual intervention plan (called a READ plan) for students identified with a Significant Reading Deficiency (SRD). The Act outlines specific components that must be included in a READ plan to ensure the effectiveness of the intervention strategies.	https://docs.google.com/spreadsheets/d/1dUzM7UGcc_1rskupL2vohLu7FvgzIbqAhho0Tz4GSP8/edit#gid=0

If a student enters fourth grade without achieving reading competency, he or she is significantly more likely to fall behind in all subject areas beginning in fourth grade and later grades. Early literacy development is not only a critical milestone in a child's path to success, but it is also one of Colorado's top education priorities. The Colorado Reading to Ensure Academic Development Act (the READ Act), passed by the Colorado Legislature in 2012, focuses on early literacy development for all students and especially for students at risk for not achieving third grade reading proficiency. The READ Act focuses on kindergarten through third grade (K-3) literacy development, literacy assessment and individual READ plans for students identified with a Significant Reading Deficiency.	Teachers must measure each K- 3 student's reading competency using state board approved interim reading assessments. The assessment helps educators chart students' progress over time and informs families as to how their children are doing compared with age expectations. This information helps educators and families as they plan learning goals for each child.	Teachers use child-level assessment information to guide instructional planning and to communicate with families. School administrators help teachers look at their classroom level trends from semester to semester and year to year in order to help them improve their teaching. Administrators also use the collective set of assessment information to help them make decisions about how to allocate resources such as professional development funds. Once the school readiness initiative is fully implemented, the CDE will use the collective results of assessment information to report to the legislature on the level of school readiness of Colorado's children.	-
